

METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR REDUCING SUBSTRATE CHARGING DAMAGE

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

The present invention presents a method and apparatus for reducing charging damage to a substrate is described. In particular, a method of operating a plasma processing system is described that leads to the removal of, or significant reduction of, the accumulated charge on the substrate.